

Say Public Health Nurse Would Save Money And Health

Home And School President Praises M.O.H. In Letter Citing Military Camp And Crowded Homes

Editor, The Era: We would appreciate your publishing the following letter on behalf of the Home and School Association.

At a recent meeting of the Home and School organization at which the health of our children was discussed from various angles with great interest, the consensus of opinion seemed to be that there will be needed more and more a public health nurse.

Many houses are now accommodating two and sometimes three or more families. This condition of over-crowding plus the proximity of a large military camp subjects our children to many epidemics which are costly to both parents and town not only from the financial angle but from the toll of permanent disability to our future citizens.

Public health nurses are trained nurses who have specialized in social service work and function in co-operation with the medical profession. Wherever they have been employed a distinct improvement in the health of the younger generation has followed.

In the past we have been fortunate in having an alert M.O.H. who has worked most faithfully in the interest of the community.

Due to the changed conditions in town and the partial loss of our doctors through enlistment we feel that a public health nurse could be of the greatest service to the youth of our town.

Yours sincerely,
Caroline W. Edwards,
President of Newmarket Home and School Ass'n.

M.O.H. IS GLAD TO BE RID OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR DUMP REPORTS TO COUNCIL

Reporting to the town council on a number of matters, Dr. J. H. Wesley, M.O.H., presented the following report on Monday evening:

"As the health of the people is not affected by the town garbage disposal, it is rather out of order to ask the medical officer of health to assume any of the duties in the management of the same. Rather this work should fall under the control of the department of public works as in all larger centres of population. Therefore it is a degree of satisfaction to learn you have relieved the M.O.H. of something he had no power to control and yet frequently brought him a lot of censure.

"In compliance with a request from the provincial department of health, about 150 children are being vaccinated against diphtheria in the different schools.

"By the courtesy of Mr. Jackson, the principal of the King George, Alexander Muir and Stuart Scott schools, it has been arranged to have the pupils from the different schools come to the (Page 5A, Col. 5)

PICKERING JUNIORS DEFEAT CITY BOYS

C. R. Blackstock's Pickering College juniors took on Lawrence Park juniors at Newmarket in the rain last Thursday afternoon and beat them 6-1. The first half was even, with both sides using their kickers to try and gain the advantage.

Pickering overcame a long kick-off, that put them well back in their own territory for most of the second half, when they recovered a kick fumbled by Lawrence. Good plunging by the winners brought the ball in close to the goal-line and Pickering tossed a short pass for the only touch of the game. The Toronto team brought the ball close enough to kick a point and they were making a belated passing attack click well when the game ended.

War Savings Will Ease Peace Bumps, Says Miss Macphail

Turn From Knitting To More Difficult Work, Agnes Macphail Urges Women; Would Build New Order

Buying of war savings certificates was urged but knitting was queried in one of Miss Agnes Macphail's typically not-a-dull-moment addresses before Sharon Women's Institute in the township hall at Sharon last evening.

It was a W.I. "at home" night, and it was a "home-coming" night for Miss Macphail too, for she taught in Sharon in the days before she won a seat in parliament.

"We should cut consuming buying to a minimum," Miss Macphail declared. "At the end of the war we almost read—as much as we want peace—the unemployment and dislocation that will result. If we save now, and spend then, we can offset and avoid a great deal of unemployment."

Miss Macphail told of a suggestion that after the war Canada should keep on making munitions, and just drop them into the sea, to keep everybody employed. Putting as much money as possible into war savings certificates was her suggestion of a way to create employment after the war.

"It is a moving thought the way Canadian women have worked, taking care of the bomb victims in Britain," Miss Macphail said. "It must draw us together."

"Knitting, however, is not the most important work we can do," she said. "The government buys suits for the soldiers. It could also buy socks. There are more skilled jobs for the women, jobs which require more thought and planning, such as canning fruits and making children's clothes for the bomb victims.

"Women should turn from the simple job of knitting socks, which a machine can do just as well, to more important things. 'No matter how much we help in war work, we feel that it is insufficient. The thing we should do is to start to build a new social order. As Mr. King says, it should be well started before the war ends. We must get at it.

"We must co-operate and support co-operation in all its phases. We should co-operate as producers in selling and we should co-operate as consumers in buying. We must continue to educate ourselves. We should not pass up the opportunity, for instance, to participate in the farm radio forums which start on Monday evening.

"If we want a new social order, we must be willing to accept the disciplines it imposes on us. We must have enough faith in our ideal to accept and work for it.

"It is time we quit lauding people because they are rich," was one of Miss Macphail's parting shots. "They may be laudable but it is not because they are rich."

DOCTOR MAYOR ADVISES CITIZENS

"The best way to avoid spinal meningitis is cleanliness and lots of fresh air," Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales stated at a town council meeting on Monday evening.

"Ventilation and soap and water, keeping children and themselves away from crowds," was Dr. Dales' advice to citizens. "Most of these cases develop in camps or other places where men are crowded and there is not sufficient air and ventilation."

"People should open their windows and let some air through the house. People should wash their hands before they eat. Children's hands should be washed frequently."

"It would be a terrible thing to have this disease in the town," Dr. Dales concluded. "There is no need for it, if proper precautions are taken."

Merchant Thinks Beer Wouldn't Aid Business

What does the business man along Main St. think of the beverage room proposal? What one merchant, no "teetotaler" himself, thinks is recorded in the following anonymous statement.

"I don't mind taking an occasional drink of beer myself," he said. "My wife and family can enjoy a drink of beer too, but they have never been in a beverage room."

"I am opposed to beverage rooms in Newmarket. There are too many men now going to Bradford to spend money that their families should have for food, clothing, shoes and other necessities.

"Other business men that I know are opposed to the beverage rooms. One man who drinks quite a bit himself, says that he will give up business here if beverage rooms are established. There would be several of them. I know of options that have been taken on various properties in town on the chance that the veto will carry."

"And another thing is that customers who have been drinking too much are just a nuisance. They drive away good customers. The temperance people should get busy now if they don't want beverage rooms."

Armstrong Appeals Ruling Trainees Not Entitled To Vote

Says Trainees' Applications Burned By D.C., Judge Adds Training Staff to Voting List

Following a decision by Judge T. H. Barton here on Wednesday that the names of members of the Newmarket training camp staff could be put on the voters' list for the beverage room question but that trainees, whether active or reserve, could not be, Arleigh Armstrong, operator of the King George hotel, has appealed in his own name as a voter to a higher tribunal.

Judge Barton ruled against Mr. Armstrong's contentions on two points: that active and reserve recruits at the camp over two months are entitled to have their names on the list; and, second, that active and reserve recruits here at the time of preparing the lists are entitled to have their names put on.

Mr. Armstrong was represented by J. R. Cartwright, K.C., of Toronto. The Veterans' Club-house Association was represented by Ian Strachan, K.C., M.L.A., Toronto, who attempted to support Mr. Cartwright's argument. H. S. Pritchard, secretary of the Moderation League, a brewers' and distillers' organization, was present and advised Mr. Cartwright and Mr. Strachan.

Joseph Vale, Newmarket barrister and vice-president of the Newmarket Citizens' League, represented those interested in obtaining a "No" answer to the beverage room question.

Judge Barton disallowed Mr. Vale's contention that members of the training staff who are maintaining homes in another municipality are not entitled to vote in Newmarket. Mr. Vale will not appeal this ruling.

Judge Barton put an estimated 175 names of members of the training staff on the list after Cpl. G. N. Saunders gave evidence that he knew each man. Judge Barton ruled out the rest of the list of about 250 names when Cpl. Saunders said that they had left the camp or when he was unable to say he knew them.

Judge Barton would not consider a pile of individual applications from trainees submitted by Mr. Armstrong. There appeared to be several hundred applications.

Judge Barton agreed that in the event of the appeal court ruling that the names of trainees should be placed on the list he would reconvene the court to consider these applications.

Mr. Cartwright then asked about the other trainees at the camp for whom there were no applications.

"The forms were taken and destroyed," Mr. Cartwright said. "The forms were supplied to officer in command. He told me himself that he picked up forms and destroyed them. Would you name a further day to get these names in?"

"I suppose that he is in charge of these men and he can do what he pleases," said Judge Barton.

"I don't know who the officer in command is," said Mr. Cartwright.

"Col. Harkness," answered N. L. Mathews, K.C., the returning two men," said Mr. Armstrong. "There were 500 or 600 picked up and burned by order of the (Page 8, Col. 6)

BEER AND BALLOTS

The beverage rooms vote approaches. The war still dominates public interest, but there is some preparation being made for the voting. The oppositionists seem to think that the public is largely opposed to the beverage rooms and that their principal task is to get the voters on the list and to the polls. The beverage rooms advocate seems to think that a majority of the soldiers at the military camp—as many of them as are entitled to vote—will be inclined to favor the beverage rooms, and that it is to his advantage to have their names on the list. The soldiers themselves, however, have not been sufficiently interested to take the initiative in asking that their names be put on the list.

We have always thought that the question would be defeated, because it was defeated a few years ago, and there didn't seem to be any great change in public opinion on the subject. The result won't be known until the ballots are counted of course, and those who don't want beverage rooms should do their share to defeat the question, but it does seem as though opinion has swung even more sharply against beverage rooms than at the time of the vote of a few years ago.

One of the factors in this adverse opinion is that beverage rooms throughout the province haven't increased their reputation in the intervening years. Beverage rooms have been criticized repeatedly by most of the leading newspapers, daily and weekly, of the province. Beverage rooms have been criticized by most of the leading citizens of the province. Beverage rooms for women have been particularly under fire, although we can't see that it is any worse for women than for men to drink in public.

Another factor is that traffic accidents attributed to alcoholic beverages of one kind or another have been many. This has made the old-time temperance argument, based on moral and economic considerations, less appealing. The habitual drinker used to be regarded, under the old argument, as a menace to his own children; today the drinker who uses a car after or while drinking is regarded as a menace to everybody's children, and to every other motorist. Everybody recognizes that drivers shouldn't drink, and that drinkers shouldn't drive. Even people who drink are not anxious to increase the amount of alcoholic beverages consumed. They regard drinking-driving as an evil which cannot be eliminated entirely but which should not be unnecessarily increased.

In Newmarket, there is an additional factor against the beverage rooms. Aside from the war, which we think inclines people to vote against rather than for beverage rooms, the people of Newmarket seem to fear that with so many soldiers in the town there would be a few who would abuse the beverage rooms and make the streets unpleasant for other people. Perhaps the camp staff will look at it that way themselves.

ROUND PEGS, ROUND HOLES

In war-time it is necessary to do some things that fortunately don't have to be done in peace-time. On the other hand, war often shows that desirable things thought impossible can be done if they have to be done. For instance, people are saying now that if Canada can put everybody to work today producing for war, then Canada could put everybody to work in peace-time, producing houses, automobiles, refrigerators, radios, bath-rooms, cod liver oil, etc. Another example is the promising new plan to put army men in the jobs that they will fill best through psychological tests. This will be done both over in Britain, with the Canadian army, and here in Canada, with new recruits. Square pegs will be put into square holes, and round pegs into round holes. It is said that the German, Russian and U.S.A. armies have used this plan to good effect.

LABOR AT THE HELM

In Australia, where the national government and four of six state governments are now Labor, nothing unseemly will happen. There will be more social legislation of course, and probably the workingman will get the break even more than in the past in taxation, in industrial legislation, and any other matter for public decision. But there will still be capitalists, there will still be wealthy people, there will still be big industries. There is nothing to fear from a Labor government.

On the other hand, there are benefits to be expected from a Labor government. It is obvious that a Labor government is going to be under obligation to the masses of the people and not to important individuals, and therefore it is going to do its favors to those masses rather than to individuals. That is as should be, for the masses are an open society to which any of us may belong.

More than that, a Labor government is going to appreciate the viewpoint, the needs and failings of the masses. For instance, there is a tremendous lag between today's knowledge of health and diet and the actual health and diet of many people. Many families are undernourished and unhealthy, through lack of knowledge as well as through lack of means.

A Labor government (and the Labor government in Australia represents agriculture too) will be just a little more of the people than an old-party government. Take the C.C.F. representatives in the B.C. legislature. They are not an average group of politicians. The leader, Harold Winch, is 34 years of age and has been in the legislature since he was 28. He had previously been on relief. His father is also a member of the legislature and a member of the same party. His 6,500 majority was the largest in the province. Three of the elected C.C.F.s are women. The others include two farmers, a miner, an agricultural implement dealer, a metal-worker, a brick-layer (the leader's father), a school-teacher, a lawyer.

Whatever happens to the C.C.F. movement in British Columbia, this group of people are going to do the province a lot of good. They will present a fresh and challenging viewpoint, which should contribute both to British Columbia's war effort and her post-war reconstruction effort.

PAINLESS WAR

Naturally, most people would like to get a cost-of-living bonus, but those who get a bonus get nothing if everybody else gets it. They handle more money, but their money won't buy any more than it would before. One fellow's bonus goes into the other fellow's cost of living, and no progress is made. It should be clear to most people by now that the cost of living bonus was a short-sighted political move. No one can find a painless way for the average citizen to pay his war taxes. The cost of living was bound to be increased to the extent of the heavy new war taxes. Now it is being increased to the additional extent of the cost-of-living bonus being extended to all workers in industry.

The cost of living bonus will help some people, until it comes back to them in increased prices. Farmers, retired people, pensioners, and others will not be helped. They will have to pay their own war taxes and the industrial worker's too.

Dr. F. Cyril James, principal of McGill University, says: "If selling prices are frozen how can enterprises which have not already granted such a bonus be expected to do so on Nov. 15? If, on the other hand, enterprises are to be allowed to raise their selling prices to cover the bonus, how can we avoid the secondary effect of such action in raising the cost of living for other people and so providing an argument for further bonuses to all workers?"

"If the policy as a whole (control of prices and wages) is effectively administered there will be no reason for an additional cost-of-living bonus for the duration of the war, and it would have been better to omit this portion of the scheme."

"The basic necessity for a successful war effort is personal sacrifice—and a general cost-of-living bonus tends to reduce the extent of that sacrifice, unless it is to be accompanied by heavier taxation on all incomes."

"Admittedly, the problem of those individuals with the lowest standards of living is not easy to solve, but I suspect that the general provisions for cost-of-living bonuses to large groups of workers will complicate rather than solve it."

EASY DOES IT

The Era last week made the mayor, Dr. L. W. Dales, request Newmarket citizens to raise their war savings objective "quietly and willingly." The words should have been "quickly and willingly." Anyway, Newmarket is going to do the job without the aid of any black-outs, air-raid sirens and screaming bombs.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

PRICE CONTROL

(Orillia Packet and Times)

The manner in which the Dominion government's strong action in freezing prices and wages has been received is a cheering indication of the readiness of the Canadian people to submit to radical interference with their ordinary way of living and doing business if such measures are needed to strengthen Canada's war effort. Protests have been few and far between, though the regulations must involve many instances of individual hardship. Much will depend upon the discretion with which they are administered. But for the time being at least, there appears to be less friction and greater unanimity in promoting the highest possible industrial production than for months past. The lesson should not be lost upon the government—that the people of Canada welcome strong and decisive leadership even where sacrifice is involved, rather than dilatory and compromising attempts to please all sections. Such efforts at "unity" really foster contention and disunity.

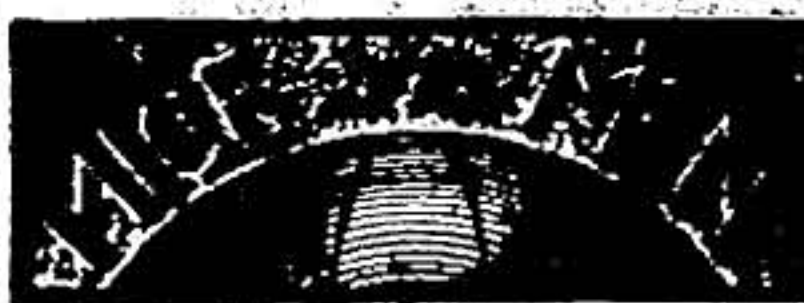

DON'T CONDEMN ALL FOR A FEW

(Barrie Examiner)

A Barrie lady a few days ago was belaboring military men in general because she had seen a number of drunks on the street. She said quite emphatically that in view of this she had a great deal of use for soldiers. The lady displayed a method of reasoning which is all too prevalent these days, and which is totally unfair to the fighting forces. True, one often sees soldiers on the streets of Barrie the worse of liquor. No one regrets this state of affairs more than we do, but in fairness it should be pointed out that the percentage is not great.

There are many thousands of soldiers in Camp Borden, and the number who drink to excess is comparatively small. That being the case we think the soldiers as a whole are to be commended rather than condemned. It is really remarkable that with so many soldiers in camp, so few make a nuisance of themselves due to drinking.

A soldier's life is not the easiest to live. He is denied many of the ordinary amenities of civil life, and time often hangs heavily on his hands. That a few should get drunk is not surprising, especially when our provincial government appears to go out of its way to sell as much liquor as possible as a revenue producer. We believe that the soldiers of Camp Borden are to be commended for their general behavior. It certainly compares well with the behavior of any group of civilians of similar strength. In any event it is hardly fair to paint all soldiers with the same brush, when only a very small minority make themselves disagreeable.

In the official casualty list last Thursday evening the name of J. E. Brown of Newmarket appears. Hallows' passed off exceptionally quietly. Not one case of misdeed was reported to the police.

Ex-Mayor Pearson has built a dandy new garage near his residence. A number of Newmarket hunters left for Muskoka on the Monday night train.

William T. Gadsby, son of Mr. Thos. Gadsby, has been reported as wounded. He is 20 years of age, and was a member of St. Paul's Anglican church. Prior to enlisting he was employed by the Office Specialty company. Coal is going to be an awful price this winter. The miners quoted yesterday $9.40 per ton at Bridgeburg, Ont., with freight extra. This will make coal $12 a ton in Newmarket. The present price is $8.25. Messrs. Al. Binns and Wilnot Lundy have purchased a "Saxon Six," the same as ex-Mayor Pearson is running.

TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Era: We doubt if there are 40 persons in Newmarket who take the "White Ribbon Tiding" the dominion temperance organ published by the W.C.T.U. women across this country. Therefore much information regarding the liquor traffic is not read and is unknown. We would like to pass on an article in the November issue, taken from the "Union Signal," the National W.C.T.U. paper of U.S.A., in their issue of Oct. 4, 1941. It is entitled "A call to action for defence of the home."

"Keep in mind that the brewers are doing their best to persuade persons of all classes that their business is needful and beneficial. They can fool some of the people some of the time, but they can't fool all of the people all of the time. Their agents are surely appearing as 'angels of light' with every device of which they are capable."

"Read this: The brewing industry's assaults upon American women and American homes is nothing new. It has been on a steady increase in volume and in audacity ever since beer came back by sanction of Congress before Repeal, but never until last month, did it land its paid propaganda on the pages of a prominent publication designed especially for feminine consumption. At that time, in the October issue of the 'Woman's Home Companion' (delivered in September) and in many other magazines, the young woman looked out of a full-page advertisement for the United Breweries Industrial Foundation and beside it was the psychologically clever challenge, 'How should an intelligent woman feel about beer and ale?' Every modern-minded wife and mother was urged to form an honest and unbiased judgment as to the place beer should hold in her life."

"Under the large-type heading, 'Beer and Young People' this modern-minded woman was told that: 'If a mother is truly wise, she will make home so attractive to her young people . . . that they will enjoy entertaining friends in their home . . . and kindly mellow beer can be of great help. Served with a mother's approval and understanding it becomes an asset in . . . friendly gatherings of young people.' She was told also about the place beer can hold in her own social life as when you entertain, nothing is easier to serve than beer. Nothing is more economical . . . in relation to your family, your friends, and yourself. . . . Beer should have a pleasant place in your life . . . and can do much to make life saner, sweeter, and more worthwhile."

"In conclusion, to use the beer-maker's own words 'The brewers of America are eager to have beer win the place it deserves in the confidence of forward-looking women: A beverage of moderation for the nation. As a tolerant and modern-minded woman, won't you help with understanding and support of the brewers' clean-up or close-up program' to prevent abuses wherever they may occur in the retailing of beer and ale."

"Unfortunately thousands upon thousands of modern-minded women have no means of reaching the readers of these magazines with their version of how an intelligent woman should feel about beer and ale, but they can write to the publishers and protest such an assault upon the American home. They can write also to the advertisers who have paid for the space on the reverse side of the beer ads and explain that those pages have been deleted before the magazine went to the library table for family reading."

"Every woman who feels that this audacity of the brewers is an insult to American women should write at least to the publications which sent it into her home."

"On the reverse side of the sheet that carried the brewers' ad in Collier's was a milk advertisement. The milk company should be informed immediately that its ad had to be deleted or erased, before the magazine was read by the family."

4781 Dorchester St., Montreal, Nov. 3, 1941.

Editor, The Era: Your paper, The Era, needs no praise from me. I read it with pleasure and profit.

At present I see Newmarket is the centre of an attack by the brewing interests, who naturally want to sell their beer.

It is a strange thing but the average doctor tells us that beer is one of the worst habit-forming drinks. It seems that the beer drinker is the most difficult of all the alcoholics to treat and cure.

Another thing about beer is that the real money maker is the brewer. He gets cash for his product and the tavern keeper or grocer who lades out the beer at so much a glass and who also tries hard to get cash is left holding the bag.

Montreal, as you know, is a free-for-all for the brewers. In spite of every encouragement the tavern keeper cannot make money any thing like what all his hard work and long hours should warrant.

Recent legislation in Quebec has tended towards stopping the tremendous loss due to the sale of beer. Some attempt is made to check the cost of police, jails, hospitals, insane asylums, etc., which of course are necessary adjunct to the licensed sale of beer. It is found that the license fees charged are just about sufficient to take care of the wastage, hospitals, jails, poor-houses, asylums, charity organizations, etc.

The price of licenses has been increased and more taxes are asked, but still the balance is on the wrong side. For political reasons only a few are willing to take a stand in the matter and cut out the legal sale of beer altogether.

However, that is coming, for the liquor business as a whole is losing ground yearly because it is too wasteful of business resources.

Newmarket being a progressive town, I am very sure the citizens and businessmen generally will not consider such a backward step as that of legalizing the sale of beer by the glass.

The Common Round

OFFICERS' RALLY

By Isabel Inglis Colville

Have you ever thought of how profoundly grateful we human beings should be for the gift of humor? If not, ponder on it awhile and you will realize that it can point a moral and hammer home a vital truth a hundred per cent more effectively than a scolding or a heavy chain of reasoning.

I don't think I ever realized this as I did when listening to Mrs. Hayes as she cajoled, admonished and advised her fellow Institute members on Friday, Oct. 31st, morning and afternoon, at the Friends church, Newmarket. Friday was grey, gloomy—pre-Novemberish in fact—outside, but inside there was the Institute feeling of friendliness and the warm sunny smile of a speaker who could sway her audience at will.

The Institute Ode and Creed always seem to put one in the proper spirit for going on to the work of the day and led up to the address of Mrs. Sinclair, our district president. I am extremely sorry that lack of space forces condensation of ALL proceedings, but there are some thoughts so well worth while that I shall endeavour to synopsise them.

Mrs. Sinclair said that in ordinary times the duty of keeping the aims and objects of the Institute work before the members was a full time job, and more necessary now than ever in order to keep up morale, while added to this is war work. Let no one say, she emphasized, that we are dropping our Institute work because we are doing so much war work. The war work can be carried on much better with the help and backing of the W.I. Four essentials are necessary in our lives, work, play, love, worship and we wonder if women are doing something to make our homes, schools, churches and communities feel their responsibilities. This not only for the young people of today, but for the boys who will come back to civilian life after the war. The re-establishment of these men will be one of the biggest jobs Canada has ever undertaken, but we must never lose faith in our cause and remember we are fighting for a new order where man will not only have freedom of speech, of assembly, of religion, but also freedom from want and fear.

It is not too soon to begin work toward this end, profiting by our mistakes and beginning in our HOMES.

When Mrs. Hayes was called the presidents, past, present and to come, picked up their ears, for her talk was on the duties of a president.

Those who think that a president has nothing to do, or everything to do, or are not too clear as to just what is expected of them, received enlightenment—plus.

The first and second duties can be combined and these apply to the secretary also—be present at all local meetings, and first, last and always, start on time. No matter if only two or three are assembled—start anyway. Also—and this is a big also—have the best thing on your program first—then, the late-comers, arriving and finding what they wanted to hear over, will no doubt make an effort next time to be on time.

The president must be able to maintain order, her knowledge of rules will help and she must be able to hold attention by never letting the meeting lag. If her agenda is planned beforehand it will help, as there will be no awkward waits while secretary and president consult on procedure.

The president must never be on a nominating committee.

The minutes read, then have a good roll-call—one that will be of educational value, NOT a favorite name for a baby girl, etc., but uses of say, salt, vinegar, ways of training the family to be tidy, and so on—these are just hints.

A president introduces a speaker and should be careful as to her method. First, correct name; second, agency or society; or company sending that person on mission; third, subject in his own words; fourth, items of interest to your group.

The president receives and submits for discussion all motions, which should be clear and simple. If a motion finds no seconder it is lost—contrary vote also taken if for business, but NOT if the motion is of sympathy, condolence or courtesy.

The executive consists of president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer and district director. The president should never show partiality—her dearest friend is just another member in the Institute.

Having exhausted the duties of a president, the ladies retired to the dining-room to refresh their inner man with appetizing food and to relax their brains with social chit-chat, for mental indigestion is as serious as the more mundane.

When the meeting reassembled they opened with two verses of O Canada, which is beautiful even in its mutilated form, Abide With Me, and Long, Long Ago. Then the serious business of instructing secretaries and members on their duties began. It was too bad there was a misapprehension concerning attendance at the rally. It is for ANY Institute member, and is so well worth-while.

Mrs. Hayes opened her talk by saying representatives should be like candles, lighting up dark places.

Then, too, we should help the Institute war fund. Presidents, she said, are often overworked, and, moreover, they find it hard to follow a president whose manner and work left no room for criticism. Here, said Mrs. Hayes, is your opportunity—don't imitate, be yourself and put all you can into your work.

She told of a branch she visited where president and secretary came to her in distress over the fact that the members would do NOTHING and the Institute was suffering accordingly. Then along came some members who said the Institute was going on the rocks because the president and secretary did EVERYTHING and did it so well that the members were afraid to do anything.

Better imperfection, said our monitor, than too much perfection. She said nothing was worse for an Institute than lack of loyalty to its leaders. She said that unkind criticism was a real factor in keeping people from accepting office and we should bear in mind "No unkind word our lips shall pass." At present the need for loyal followers of the already good leaders we have is a very great need.

The secretary-treasurer's work is exacting and requires real attention. She must keep a record of officers and members and notify the district secretary and department of changes. She takes minutes and keeps records of attendance at each meeting. Places all correspondence from department, NOT behind the clock where it lies snug and forgotten, but before the meeting. Conducts correspondence and sends in reports as required and distributes "Home and Country"—sending copies by mail if necessary. Renders written annual report at local annual meeting and in absence of president and vices takes chair or conducts election of temporary chairman.

Pays all bills, keeps an exact record of expenditures and receipts and sends in an audited statement about ten days before district annual. Forwards federation fee and is ready at all times with financial statement.

Assists with work of publicity and sits at right of president ready at all times to help. "Do not," said Mrs. Hayes, "have a president and secretary who sit as far apart as possible and glare at one another like strange cats!"

Makes minutes as plain, unadorned and free from bias as possible, and these minutes require no motion for their adoption.

When correspondence from government is concerned, make a mad dash to put it in a brief bag, even if your cake burns in the oven.

These reports are important for the government pays for many free services and gives grants, and in return the government expects report sheets which show that the Institute is doing work worthy of its help. The Institute is primarily a peace-time organization but we have been grafted into war work and we are a strong thread in the web of democracy. We must not only prepare for war but for the after war, peace-time adjustment.

The fight to maintain democracy will be soon in homes and hearts where what it means must be instilled.

We could do—we think—the big spectacular things, but we can demonstrate its worth in the little things. We say we are ready to die for it—let us live for it.

The district director is the key woman between local and district branches and should be able to speak with authority for home branch and bring back reports.

Then the members were instructed. We had been listening with smug complacency to the officers' orders—here were ours. We must be on time, take our part in the meeting—contribute something to it, let your face be a smiling one and do not just think "What can I get from a meeting, but what can I put in."

Pay fee on time and don't be niggardly about a word of appreciation to the officers or contributors to programs. Mrs. Hayes said that Institutes were too modest—they should publicize their work—have it reported and let people know how worth-while it is.

Altogether, we came away from that meeting with so much that was worth-while that it will take some time to read, mark and inwardly digest it.

Mrs. Phil Hamilton moved a vote of thanks to the board of the Friends church for allowing the use of the church and to the ladies who provided such an excellent dinner.

Mrs. A. Boyd moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Hayes and I think we all felt that never was one more deserved. She made us laugh, she made us think, she made us resolve to do better; what more COULD she do.

Note—I am indebted to Mrs. Sinclair and Mrs. G. McClure for notes on the morning.

LONG DISTANCE DIALING SPEEDS UP SERVICE

Dialing a telephone number in a distant city directly is the latest method introduced to speed up long distance service.

In the early days of the telephone, when it was not possible to speak to a person more than a hundred miles away—except when "atmospheric conditions" were extraordinarily good—a call from Montreal to Toronto was a lengthy undertaking. On some occasions, the message was relayed from operator to operator in the various towns and cities along the route until it reached Toronto, and the reply came back by the same method.

The relay system was soon made unnecessary by the rapid advance of the telephone art, but there was still the difficulty of obtaining the connection. Not many years ago, a caller had time to go out and play a game of golf in between asking to be connected with a subscriber in a distant city and actually talking to him. Gradually, year by year, improved methods and equipment have reduced that waiting time.

Experiments are still under way to cut a few more seconds from the connection time. Special circuits have been provided to enable a Montreal operator to dial a Toronto number herself, instead of asking an operator in Toronto to do so for her. She plugs in on a Toronto circuit, listens for the dial tone in the Toronto exchange, and dials the number required, just as one would make a local call!

Although for the present this system is still on an experimental basis, it is expected that it will be extended as the dial system is introduced in more and more towns and cities. In the not-too-distant future, perhaps, an operator may be able to dial direct a number in Sydney, Australia, for a caller in Montreal!

POUNCE COURT WHEEL A TRUCK TO LEARN HOW TO DRIVE

Taking a truck from a garage where he worked in order to obtain a driver's license, a man named Napier of Toronto. Not only did he have to face charges in the Toronto police court of breaking and entering and of stealing a truck, but this Tuesday was required to appear before Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe in Newmarket police court to answer charges of reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

According to Oliver Sutton, Toronto, who appeared in police court yesterday, he was a trainee at Newmarket and was returning to his home when the defendant picked him up in north Toronto at about 2:30 a.m. on June 11. He said that he got into the back of the truck and that at the city limits a passenger who had been in the cab of the truck with the driver got out and another one got in. On their way north they picked up more soldiers until there were about nine or ten in the truck.

The witness went on to say that the defendant drove in a reckless manner on the curves and especially at Bond Lake. He said that they stopped for coffee at a restaurant in Aurora, where all got out of the truck. After leaving the restaurant three more soldiers got on the truck in place of three who would not go any further with them.

"We started off and he zig-zagged all over the road," stated Sutton. "Then he straightened out and went fast. The truck was on the pavement when I was thrown out and knocked unconscious."

Cross-examined by defence counsel, C. G. Elgie, Toronto, he said that he had had his leg broken in three places and received a slight concussion. Joseph Patterson, whose home is in Oakawa, but who is stationed at the Newmarket military camp, testified that he too had been a passenger in the truck at the time of the accident.

"I got into the truck at the restaurant in Aurora," he stated. "I was sitting on the very back. The accused was driving. The truck started to sway as we moved on. Something hit me on the side of the head and knocked me unconscious." The witness said that he did not remember the truck turning over. He became conscious while being driven to the hospital.

Sergeant Sidney Barracough of the York county police, testified that "on June 11, at about 4 a.m., while proceeding south on Yonge St. with Constable Fleury, we came upon a truck at the north end of Aurora. It was turned over on its side, its headlights facing in a northeasterly direction. There were a number of soldiers crowded around. We stopped to see if anyone was injured and found that three had been taken to the hospital." Asked by the crown, N. L. Mathews, K.C., if he had seen the defendant at the accident, the officer stated that he did not, although he saw Constable Fleury had gone some distance up the highway and along other roads. They also went to the restaurant to see if he had gone there to phone for help.

Questioned as to the marks on the road, the officer said that skidmarks started some distance south of where the truck came to rest. They started about three feet over the centre line of the road and turned sharply to the east, striking a curb and thence over some cement steps to where the truck was lying, its front wheels and left side damaged.

Asked about the weather conditions, the witness stated that the morning was clear and dry. Cross-examined by the defence, Sergeant Barracough estimated the distance from the restaurant to the scene of the accident to be about 900 feet and the width of the road to be about 38 feet. He said that after hitting the curb the truck went over two or three cement steps about four feet high which caused the truck to go off balance.

In his testimony Constable Aubrey Fleury corroborated the evidence of the previous witness.

According to Detective George Holmes, of the Toronto police force, he and Detective Adolphus Evans, also of the Toronto police force, after first cautioning the defendant, received a signed statement from him in which he stated that the glare of the headlights of an approaching car blinded him.

"Do you know if the accused had a driver's permit?" the crown asked Detective Payne.

"No, he said that he was taking the truck out to get some experience in order to get a driver's permit."

In his defence, Napier stated that he had turned 16 years of age on Jan. 3 of this year. He said that he worked in a gas station and associated with the employees of another gas station nearby, from which he took the truck. In order to get it he had to break in a window. He said that he drove as far as Eglinton Ave. and was about to turn east when a soldier standing on the corner. As there were no cars going in the direction the soldier was going, he turned about, picked him up, and proceeded north along Yonge St. He said that he felt quite sure that he could handle a car and that he did not notice any "swerves" at Bond Lake or Aurora.

"After we came out of the restaurant in Aurora I shifted my weight to sit up a bit," stated the accused. "The steering shaft came out and I was headed straight for a car that was coming up over the hill. I jammed the wheel back and jerked the car back." He said that he had control of the car for a moment and then lost control again.

"I accept the evidence of Mr. Sutton and Mr. Patterson as to the manner of your driving from Toronto to the scene of the accident," stated his worship. "I think you were driving in a dangerous manner."

"I am taking into consideration your youth and that you have never been in trouble before until this silly escapade," Magistrate Woodliffe told Napier. "I am also taking into consideration the fact that you were tried for taking a car without the owner's consent and spent 21 days in jail. Otherwise I would send you to jail. I am fining you $30 and costs or 30 days on the reckless driving charge and prohibiting you from driving a car any place in Canada for the next two years. On the charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident I am fining you $25 and costs or 20 days."

Costs in the first charge amounted to $17.35 and $15.00 in the other. Magistrate Woodliffe remanded for one week Donald Beemer, Belhaven, who is charged with stealing a quantity of poultry valued at $72 from F. Marritt. The defendant was allowed bail of $500.

His worship fined Earl Beare, Claremont, $1 and costs for entering a stop sign.

For unlawfully driving on highway No. 77 after dusk without lights, E. Goodwin, Holland Landing, was fined $5 and costs.

Although L. E. Doucette, Camp Borden, failed to appear to answer charges of illegal consuming and parking, the case was heard.

According to Lieut. Richard Bradshaw, he and some other military officers were driving south on Yonge St. on Oct. 24, when, coming over the brow of a hill, he noticed a car parked on the road. The defendant was standing with his arm about his lady friend at the side of the road. He noticed the reflection of a beer bottle. The witness said that as he stopped his car, another coming behind ran into it.

Constable Alex. Ferguson, who investigated, told his worship that he "found the cap of the bottle in the Doucette car and the bottle in some brush at the side of the road. There was the odor of beer on Doucette's breath. He said that he had had some beer in Barrie."

Magistrate Woodliffe fined the defendant $10 and costs of $15.15 on the consuming charge and remanded him for sentence on the parking charge.

As the complainant, L. Boomstra did not appear in court, the case of Weldon Graham, Bradford, charged with unlawfully obtaining goods for the amount of $22.10 by means of a worthless cheque was adjourned until Nov. 11. The defendant was bound in the sum of $100 and a summons to appear was ordered issued for Mr. Boomstra.

Charged with "passing," Herbert Gowlan, Brampton, was fined $5 and costs.

Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson told his worship that he was patrolling highway No. 11 when he noticed the defendant's car attempt to pass two other cars, as they were coming up the brow of the hill. He said that as the defendant passed one car he crowded it over to the car track.

Although he pleaded not guilty to having bad brakes, his worship found Almer Meyers, Zephyr, guilty of the charge and fined him $10 and costs or ten days.

"On Oct. 9, on the eighth concession of Whitechurch, I checked the accused's car," testified Constable Aubrey Fleury. "Its service brakes

HOPE Pupils Are Entertained On Hallowe'en Night

Miss Jennie Gibson, Mr. Edgar Pegg and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fairbairn, Sharon, spent Monday in Toronto.

Mrs. E. Pegg, Verne, Miss Lottie Tansley and Mrs. M. L. Pegg, and Mrs. E. Evans of Sharon, spent Thursday in Toronto.

Miss Lillian Pegg and Mrs. W. Crouth are spending a week with the former's sister, Mrs. A. C. Lepard, Burford, who has been ill in hospital with pneumonia.

Mrs. Isaac Morton, Oakwood, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. S. Stickwood.

SNOWBALL Institute Events Help War Fund, Local Boys

The many friends of Mrs. Jennie Barr will regret to learn that she is quite ill with pneumonia. Roy Haines left on a hunting trip in the north country on Saturday evening.

The Snowball Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. James Badger last Wednesday.

Mrs. Arthur Boyd and Mrs. Adams of Newmarket were guests. Mrs. Boyd gave a very stirring address on citizenship. Mrs. Copson, the very capable secretary, gave a detailed statement of the many activities during the past month. Three cheques have been mailed to the Telegram British War Victims' Fund, one for $20 from a euchre and croquille party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barrett, one for $25, from the first dance given in Fennell Rothwell's barn, and one for $14, from the second dance.

The overseas boys' boxes are already on the way and the Institute ladies are busy arranging the boxes for the local boys. This has all been made possible by the help of those who have patronized these events.

Quite a large number of the men from the vicinity attended the plowing match last Friday afternoon on the farm of William Barker of Temperanceville.

The "Happy Gang" girls' supper club met at the home of Miss Gwen Copson last Saturday afternoon. In the absence of the president, Miss Mary Mills, the chair was very ably taken by the vice-president, Miss Eleanor White.

The new project, "Salads for Health," is so interesting, as well as beneficial, that the girls are enjoying their work a great deal. The next meeting is at the home of Miss Eleanor White on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 15.

There was a very happy afternoon at the school on Friday when the Women's Institute put on a "Hallowe'en treat" for the children. Miss Ruth Allen, the very efficient teacher, welcomed the ladies. The children were in costume and a great deal of hilarity prevailed.

UNION STREET SCHOLARS HOLD GAY HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Several of the pupils and parents of Union Street school were the guests of Hope school at a Hallowe'en party at Charlie Scott's old mill in Mount Albert.

The pupils of Union Street school put away their books last Friday afternoon and took over control of the school for an afternoon of fun and celebration.

It was one of the big events of the year at the school—the Hallowe'en party. Ghosts, spooks and bats and even old Mother Goose were there to enjoy the good things to eat and could do no better than 44 feet and the emergency brakes 150 feet. This car was involved in an accident.

In his defence, Mr. Meyers pleaded that he had had all new brakes put on the car a short time before the accident and that after the accident the garage man told him that the rings were letting the oil through to the service brakes.

"Do you mean to say that you didn't know the brakes were in that condition?" asked his worship.

"No, sir, I did not," replied the defendant.

"I don't believe it," stated the magistrate. "There will be a conviction."

Pleading that he had been rushing an injured soldier to the hospital at Camp Borden at the time that Constable Fisher Dunham timed his speed at 45 miles an hour in Aurora, J. Millan, Toronto taxi driver, succeeded in having the charge dismissed.

For speeding on highway No. 11, City Dairy, Toronto, was fined $6 and costs. Charles Ecclestone, Brantford, and Colville Transport, Toronto, were each fined $5 and costs.

For exceeding the speed limit through Aurora, D. McDowell, Windsor, was fined $6 and costs, and Jack A. Foreman, Kingston, was fined $5 and costs.

Boys we've known since babies

● We see them board the train after their last leave home . . . boys we've known since they were babies. We say "Good Luck . . . we're all pulling for you", as we bid them Good Bye. But are we? Are we "pulling" . . . all we can? What are we doing to help them? Are we giving them the things they need so badly . . . ships and tanks and guns and planes and ammunition? Are we giving them all they need? That's one thing we can do . . . we who stay at home . . . one thing we must do. We must provide the money so much needed to win the war . . . and one way to do that is to buy more War Savings Certificates.

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war the thoughtless, selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

DOWN THE CENTRE

Best news arising from the present hockey situation in Aurora is the word that Bruce Thompson, sensational rookie defenceman of last year, will definitely play under Aurora colors. Not only will Ross be back, but he will bring one or two promising candidates for the team. Thompson is at present suffering from a broken collarbone, but is in good shape and keen to take to the blades again. There was no more dangerous attacker or faster poke checker last year in the whole group than Thompson. George Stark will be in the line-up again and a chunky youngster by the name of Jimmy Murray will accompany him as a candidate to catch Rowntree's eye.

Bruce Thompson will be available for a left wing berth and he is busy at basketball in Aurora. Getting some needed conditioning. Eric Silbrough and Blondie Taylor will try their hands again and with a bit of experience behind them will be off to a better start. Vic Alexander also is keen to have another whirl, while the rest of last year's team are either too old, gone elsewhere, or not included in the coach's present plans. Murray Broughton will once again wear an Aurora sweater after two years with the neighbor. Redman and he should be ready for a sensational year. Mike MacInnis, the most versatile player and one of the most valuable of the whole group, will be a certain starter.

Bruce Thompson, the Sutton flash, has announced his intention of being at the first practice, along with Eric Silbrough and Blondie Taylor. He is seeking a position with the Aurora team. In case he doesn't make the grade in the cage will try for the forward line, where he once played. Don Wilson, the former Newmarket Redman who once again spent the summer in Orillia, is back with New Haven Eagles again as first string centre. He is a pretty useful minor leaguer but not likely to be recalled by Les Canadens.

Normie Mann, the pivot flash of the same Newmarket junior team, has been sold by the Toronto Maple Leafs to Pittsburgh, which pretty well means that he has lost his chance to make the grade in top-flight hockey. Mann has been trying out with the Leafs each year since he turned pro in 1935. They sold him once before and then bought him back. This time the sale is likely to stick, as at 29 years of age you're not apt to break into the N.H.L. Everything being equal the accent is on youth in the Calder loop.

Graham Teasdale has opened another chapter in his hockey career, as he takes to the ice this season as a referee and linesman in the International league. He will work mostly at Buffalo, where he will also once again coach senior and junior teams in the up-and-coming bison city league. Teasdale is also holding down a good commercial job. Tiny was never one to back down from an argument as a player, and he also spent considerable time in the penalty box. So he knows all the tricks of the trade and will be able to handle the toughest customers. He made his debut as a referee two years ago when he gave Tigers a hand. He was a capable, sure arbitrator.

Bill Buchanan, the Aurora soft-ball outfielder, one of the best in the league, is to join the ranks of the beneficiaries this month. His bride-to-be is Miss Edith Margaret Deadman of Richmond Hill. Bill has his application filed with the city and is expecting to receive a call this month. Bill, a few years ago, was a member of Aurora Juniors in hockey and a three-star performer at lacrosse with his native Richmond Hill. He has always been deservedly popular with his team-mates.

Pinkey Lewis, the colored hockey coach of Saskatoon, Owen Sound and Hamilton fame, has joined Major Connie Smythe's 30th battery, which is certainly attracting a mighty fine bunch of athletes. Understand the battery will have a hockey team of some sort, as Smythe and Lewis will be right in the element. Both can certainly hand out the verbal tongue lashings as good as any C.S.M. in the army. Murray Edward of Goodfords, Doug Gillespie of Marlboro Juniors, Clark of Etobicoke Juniors, are a few of the well-known hockey players with the unit.

V for Victory makes it appearance in some unexpected places. Jack Adams has come up with a red and white arrangement of the victory motif for Detroit Redwings. Our Preston, looking the picture of health and carrying a little more weight than when he was the pinch-hitter of Newmarket, led men in 22, has departed for Riverdale, N.J., where he will do his puckhandling this year, unless he gets snared by Atlantic City, state rivals of the skaters. He'll be playing in the eastern U.S.A.H.A. in any case.

St. Andrew's rang down the football curtain on Saturday as they bowed before Ridley College, 32-16. The score was tied until the fourth quarter, when Ridley scored 16 points while blanking their opponents. There was never much doubt about which was the better team and the ball handling of the orange and black was mighty smart for school boys. St. Andrew's were handicapped by injuries, but we think Ridley this season, at least, can take them apart any day in the week. Ridley wins the unofficial title, the big four title, while St. Andrew's have a season's record in competition against equal opposition of two wins and four losses.

Bill Thoms starts his tenth season in pro hockey with Chicago Blackhawks. Bill is reaching the end of the trail but still has a few more years left in his hockey frame. He has worn well in the mottled ranks. Remember his Newmarket team-mates of 1927-1928? In case you don't, the team beaten by Marlborough, who had Conacher, Jackson and Levisky in their line-up, read as follows: goal, Doc Ames; defence, Pringle and Perreault; forwards, Thoms, Murray and Collins; subs, Trivett, Waller, McKelvey, Teasdale and Doug Marshall.

In 1929-30 Thoms, along with Collins, joined West Toronto Juniors and that aggregation went on to win the Memorial cup. Bob Gracie, now a minor leaguer, was a team-mate of Bill's with West Toronto, as was Norman Lampert, this year back again on the N.H.L. refereeing staff after a trial two years ago and plenty of honorable service with the amateurs. In 1928-29 Thoms was a member of the Newmarket junior team eliminated by Owen Sound, so he had three tries before winning an O.H.A. championship medal.

Of the finalists of that year, the succeeding year, which included Marlborough, the next year, which saw Marlborough win the title from Kitchener, and the West Toronto victory year, which swept past Niagara Falls in the finals in other words, from the O.H.A. junior finalists from 1926 to 1930, no less than 20 players turned pro. You could get a team from the whole bunch which would rank with the best in any N.H.L. all-stars. The period covers Thoms' junior days and does not include all the Ontario juniors who were tured to the big lights but it does include the prize packages of four gala years.

Statistics show that Thoms and his team-mate, Earl Bellert, who was on the Kitchener finalists of 1928-29, are the only two left in the major league now that Harvey Jackson has decided to call it a day with the Americans. Of the rest, Gracie, Shrimp McPherson, Eddie Convey and Jack Markle of Syracuse are all that is left in the minor pros. Time marches on, to say the least, when you're a hockey player.

He's Bright as a New Penny and Mother has learned how to help keep him that way

Youngsters as well as grownups can suffer from the dull, draggy feeling that comes from a sluggish system. Wise mothers do all they can to help prevent it.

A Pleasant Way for Young or Old to Help Prevent Sluggish System

Sluggish system often results from a lack of bulk in the diet. Such cases should yield easily to Post's Bran Flakes. They provide natural bulk to keep food wastes moving - help prevent sluggishness.

Help keep your family fit by serving Post's Bran Flakes regularly. Everyone will love their crisp, nut-like flavor. If this does not prevent sluggishness due to lack of bulk, consult a physician.

Schomberg, Oct. 30.—Mrs. E. Leithwood spent the weekend with relatives in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Aitchison, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Aitchison and children visited Mr. and Mrs. D. McIntosh on Sunday at Shelburne.

A large number from here attended the anniversary services held at 2nd King Baptist church on Sunday and were amply repaid in the addresses they heard.

Mr. Win. Crane was taken to the hospital on Friday morning, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wood and daughter, Muriel, spent Sunday with friends at Barrie.

Mr. C. Mar-hant of Weston called on relatives here Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. McKay visited Mrs. McKay's parents at Uxbridge on Sunday.

PROOF?

The bus conductor handed back the shilling to the woman passenger.

"This coin is no good," he told her. "It's spurious."

"Ridiculous!" she said, examining the coin. "Why, it's dated 1921. It would have been noticed before this if it had been bad."

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—lie awake and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys.
Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and sleeplessness, headache, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite remedy. (2)

NORTH GWILLIMBURY CONTRIBUTE $100 FOR RED CROSS BLANKETS

The North Gwillimbury Red Cross branch monthly sewing and quilting days for October were very well attended and more quilts were completed than at any previous time.

One finished quilt was donated by Mrs. Lloyd Kay of Belhaven and one quilt top by Mrs. Keilington of Keswick. In all, 14 quilts were completed and are already on their way.

It was decided to hold the next sewing and quilting days on Nov. 10 and 20, and will each day who attended the last sewing and quilting try to bring one new recruit with her for November.

The Red Cross is very appreciative of the use of the power machines loaned by a number of the ladies.

One hundred dollars was voted to be sent from the branch for the purchase of blankets, which are so urgently needed just now.

ZEPHYR
ROBERT GALBRAITH
DIES AT CEDAR BRAE

No church service was held here last Sunday on account of the Sandford anniversary services. Some from here attended.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Palmer and Joan were visiting Mrs. Palmer's mother and father here over the weekend. Mrs. Ryndard returned with them for a few days' visit.

Mr. Wilfrid Galbraith and family were visiting at the home of his father and mother on Sunday.

Miss Julia Madill, Miss E.
Fraser and Mrs. Jas. Galbraith were visiting Mr. and Mrs. W.
Horner on Sunday evening.

Miss Julia Madill entertained some of the ladies last Thursday evening at a euchre party.

The village had a very quiet Hallowe'en. No pranks were played in this district. Nearly everyone treated the children.

Robert Galbraith of Cedar Brae, who had been in poor health for some time, passed away at his home Tuesday morning.

He is survived by his wife, his brother, James, of Zephyr, and three sisters, Mrs. Crawford of Jane of Orillia. The funeral will be held at Sutton on Thursday afternoon, with interment in Briar Hill cemetery, Sutton.

BELHAVEN

The Bethel church anniversary will be held in the Bethel church on Sunday morning at 11 a.m., when the minister from Georgia will preach and the Indian choir from the Georgia church will furnish the music. There will also be an evening service open at 7.30 p.m.

On the following evening there will be a hot fowl supper held in the Belhaven community hall, when roast goose and an abundant of other good things will be served. Supper will be served from 5.30, standard time, until all are served. This will be followed by a good program, consisting of a travelogue of moving pictures. The Bethel people are working hard for their church and hope for a good crowd.

The two days of Red Cross
sewing, Oct. 29-30, in the hall, proved successful. There were 58 ladies out on Wednesday and 43 on Thursday. Thirteen quilts were made and several garments quilted. Mrs. Lloyd Kay donated a lovely quilt to the Red Cross.

Since January the Red Cross have quilted and sent away 95 quilts. Thirty-three of these quilts were done at Keswick and 63 quilted in the Belhaven community hall this summer and fall, and a good many pyjamas were also made. The days for the Red Cross sewing in the community hall in November will be Wednesday and Thursday, Nov.
10 and 20, from nine to five o'clock. As there will be no meeting in December all are asked to plan to make these two days a huge success in the different line of sewing for war victims.

The Red Cross society has postponed their dance from Friday, Nov. 7, to a later date.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wilson of Toronto visited at the home of Mrs. Wilson's sister, Mrs. Wm.
Winch, on Sunday afternoon.
The Bethel W.A. held a quilting
at the home of Mrs. M. D.

SPARON
CHURCH FRIENDS HOLD
SHOWERS FOR BRIDES

The October meeting of the W.A. of St. James' church was held at the home of Mrs. R. J.
Rogers. It was splendidly attended and after the business part of the meeting a bala was packed for western relief. The bala consisted of many excellent articles of warm clothing and a quilt donated by Mrs. W. L.
Knight. It was decided to hold the next meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Pearson in Newmarket.

Two showers of interest, at which members of both Sunday-school and congregation of St.
James' church gathered to show their appreciation and affection, were held recently. The first was that held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Grose, when a presentation of a library table with book-ends and a small silver tea service was made to Gertrude W. Grose on the eve of her marriage. Gertrude for a number of years had served in both church and Sunday-school, and in making the presentation on behalf of the members of St.
James', R. J. Rogers, the superintendent, urged the young people to support the work of the Sunday-school.

On the eve of her marriage the members of St. James' gathered at the home of Miss Blanche Hall and presented her with a large cut glass flower bowl and also a small silver tea service.
Mrs. R. J. Rogers made the presentation on behalf of the Sunday-school and Rev. A. J.
Forte brought good wishes from members of the congregation.
Blanche was a former secretary-treasurer of the Sunday-school.
On both occasions, the happy gatherings were brought to a close with games, music and refreshments, many good wishes being extended to the young couples.

ROCHE'S POINT
Bishop Will Dedicate
Church Honor Roll

A service of wide interest will be held in Christ church, Roche's Point, on Sunday, at 11 a.m., D.S.T., when His Grace, Archbishop Derwyn T. Owen of Toronto, will administer the rite of confirmation on candidates from three churches in the mission.

At the same service His Grace will dedicate a roll of honor for the 55 members of Christ church and community, who have been and are now serving in the

Horner and Mrs. E. Nelson last Friday.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute will be held in the community hall on Tuesday, Nov. 11, at 2.30 o'clock.
A good program is provided and a hearty invitation is extended to all.

GRAY COACH LINES

Living Historic Times With Canada

For just one year short of a century-and-a-quarter —124 dramatic, dynamic, historic years—the Bank of Montreal has lived, worked and watched with Canada.

The Bank has seen war come and peace go, peace come and war depart; shared Canada's struggle through every night of economic depression since 1817; rejoiced to see Canada always triumph over all adversity.

Founded two years after the Battle of Waterloo,

the Bank witnessed the Crimean War, the Indian Mutiny, and, with other loyal Canadians, enlisted for the duration in the South African War and World War I, and now marches with the Dominion and the Empire in World War II.

Always, Canada has come through stronger, better, triumphant. May she so come through the present fiery trial. To this end we work and dedicate the institution's service, just as our 4000 loyal employees are working and dedicating their personal services.

Mount Albert

The Women's Institute sponsored a party for the young folks in the hall last Friday evening and treated them to candy, cookies and sandwiches.

Very little damage was done around the town on Halloween, but some tricks played on women who live alone are rather a disgrace to the young men who enter into these pranks.

A number from here attended the Robertson-Hall wedding at Sharon Anglican church on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Geo. Walker has been confined to bed owing to a rather bad heart condition.

Dr. G. W. E. Macpherson was called to Carleton Place on Saturday as his father was taken seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cowie of Markham and Mrs. J. T. Crozier of Guelph were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Steeper over the weekend.

Rev. R. V. Wilson went to Utica on Sunday evening for anniversary services and Mount Albert withdrew their service.

On Sunday anniversary services will be held in the United church, when Rev. H. O. Hutcheson of Shelburne, a former minister at Mount Albert, will be the guest speaker and there will be special music by the choir, assisted by soloists from Toronto. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

Miss Margaret Thirk of Toronto visited relatives in town over the weekend.

Miss Theodora Harrison has taken a position in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Waag of Goodwood spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. H. Leadbetter.

On Friday evening, Nov. 7, the Red Cross are having a euchre and dance in the hall and will have Audrey Smith's orchestra. The beautiful table cover donated by Mrs. Rennie, Sr., will be given away to the lucky winner. Everyone is urged to be on hand at 8 o'clock and help the good work along that is being done by the Red Cross.

A hot turkey supper is to be held in the United church on Wednesday evening, Nov. 12, when there will also be a good program given by Miss Fallowdown, humorous elocutionist; Laura Johnson, character entertainer; Mrs. G. W. Johnson, A.T.C.M., pianist and accompanist; vocal and instrumental character and novelty numbers, skills and patriotic selections. Everyone is asked to keep the date in mind. The program will be given in the hall and also in the church.

The November meeting of the Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. W. Couper on Thursday, Nov. 13, with Mrs. H. Evans and Mrs. Gordon Mainprize as hostesses. There will be a paper on legislation, current events on Canadianization, music, and roll-call, "a surprise," come prepared. All ladies are welcome.

Dr. and Mrs. L. Stokes of Hanover were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Stokes over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Max. Walker of Greenville were at the home of Mr. Walker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Walker, on Sunday.

Glenville

Glenville, Oct. 31—Mr. and Mrs. Allan Vradenburgh of Toronto spent the weekend at the home of Mrs. Harris.

The W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Brunton last Thursday with a good attendance.

Mr. John Anning, Mr. Thomas Wilson and sons, and Mr. John Anning and Mr. Wesley Anning of Swift Current, Sask., spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Anning.

Mr. Bruce Empringham of Gormley spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Johnston of Toronto spent Saturday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. James West.

The ladies of Glenville are packing a soldier's ditty bag.

The special evangelistic services which were held last week in the church were well attended, considering the rainy weather.

Evangelist Arthur Smith presented the gospel in a plain and simple manner each evening and a time of blessing was enjoyed by all.

Mr. Smith played his violin at

A quartet from Toronto brought messages in song at the Friday evening meeting. At the close of the service a social hour was spent together.

The Sunday evening service was taken by the pastor, Mr. Norman Rowan, who preached a sermon on "The Unpardonable Sin."

A lovely solo was sung by Mrs. Rowan during the service.

Fred Ball is able to be up now, after spending two weeks in bed with shingles.

The pupils of Eversley school held their Halloween frolic on Thursday afternoon, leaving Friday free for the plowing match, as Beverley Neill was a contestant.

Some of the ladies attended the frolic and enjoyed it very much. The pupils were in costume, and after a brief program they played games, had a contest and enjoyed the teacher's treat of candy.

Eversley boys brought home prizes from the plowing match held on the farm of Wm. Barker, Temperanceville, on Friday.

Leonard Shropshire and his mare won awards and Mervyn Wells came fifth in his class. Beverley Neill, a nine-year-old, won the prize as being the youngest contestant and won second prize in his class with a wheel plow. Three cheers for Beverley! He has followed a horse with harrows since he could walk, and is the making of a fine, sturdy farmer.

Charles Cohen reports a great yield of red carrots, "as large as your arm," he says, and sweet and juicy. He feeds them to his hens, as he is a poultryman. So the egg yolks must have a rich color!

Mrs. MacLennan chops carrots for her dogs, so carrots are coming into their own, in favor as carrot juice as well as a vegetable, and full of vitamins.

The sympathy of this farm community is felt for J. Percy Forester of Strange who lost six of his good milk cows. They were smothered when the straw-stack fell over on them.

Pleasantville

Mr. and Mrs. M. McNicol had as guests for Saturday evening tea Mr. and Mrs. Harry West, Mr. and Mrs. W. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. F. Horne and two children, of Glenville, and L.A.C. Fred Judge.

Mrs. Ridley of Toronto spent Sunday with Mrs. R. Hawlin and Mrs. M. F. Starr.

Rev. Maurice Gillson of Bobcaygeon was calling and renewing old acquaintances and seeing old school chums on Monday afternoon. He also attended the Wesley church, Vandon, 60th anniversary celebrations.

The social evening at the home of Mr. George Wood on Wednesday evening of last week, which was sponsored by the Willing Workers, proved very enjoyable and successful.

Mrs. Earl Toole received first prize for Chinese checkers and Mrs. Will Reid got the consolation prize for the ladies, while for the gentlemen Murray McClure came first and Fred Reid second. The ladies served an abundance of sandwiches, tarts and coffee.

Miss Florence Tucker spent part of Sunday at the home of Mrs. Ralph Willis, Vandon.

Everyone is invited to the Bogartown community club supper on Friday, Nov. 7, at the school, when they may enjoy a good hot meal and a play, "Jimmy had better be careful," by players from Goodwood.

Mrs. Isaac E. Johnson and family attended the hot turkey dinner at Kettleby last Wednesday night.

Kettleby

Mr. and Mrs. John Little had dinner on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Clarkson.

Miss Laura Black had dinner on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Webster.

A large number of young people attended the Halloween social on Tuesday evening in the hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wilson visited on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Black.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dolson of Toronto had Sunday night supper with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Clarkson.

Robert Burton of the R.C.A.F., Oshawa, spent the weekend at home.

Mrs. Frank Beatty and infant son are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Crawford.

The people of the village are sorry to lose Mrs. Wells and family, who are moving to Lloydstown.

The various departments of the United church, the W.A., the Young People's Union and the girls' club, packed several ditty bags for the sailors recently.

A cheque for $100 was sent to the British war victims' fund as the result of a supper held at Christ Anglican church and sponsored by the guild of the church, on Wednesday of last week.

officer, who was acting as clerk to Judge Barton.

"The point is that if this appeal is successful we had hoped to have these names," said Mr. Armstrong.

"I feel that no officer would prevent his men from voting unless as a result of a misunderstanding."

NOTICE

Clerk's notice of first posting of Voters' List, 1941

Municipality of the Township of WHITCHURCH,
COUNTY OF YORK

NOTICE is hereby given that I have complied with section 8 of the Voters' Lists Act and that I have posted up at my office at Vandon, on the first day of November, 1941, the list of all persons entitled to vote in the said Municipality at municipal elections and elections to the legislative assembly and that such list remains there for inspection.

standing," said Mr. Cartwright. Judge Barton agreed to call another court if the appeal should succeed, although he said that the other trainees would have to appear personally to get their names on the list.

"To give you an idea of the atmosphere in the camp; the officer spoke to me of the methods used to get these names as communistic," said Mr. Armstrong. "We are getting to the hysterical state."

The appeal, for which ten days notice must be given, is expected to be heard in Toronto on Nov. 17. If successful Judge Barton will sit again on Nov. 24 to consider the trainee applications.

Appearing for the Citizens' League, Fred Chantler submitted a list of 200 names of Newmarket citizens omitted from the list. Mr. Armstrong submitted another list of 150 names omitted from the list. The two parties agreed to accept each other's lists, and they were added without argument, subject to deduction of duplications, of which it was estimated there would be about 50.

"I have spoken to six other judges and to an appeal court judge and they all agree," Judge Barton said of his interpretation of the sections on which Mr. Armstrong was relying to give the trainees a vote.

Judge Barton blamed the legislature for framing the legislation badly. He joked Mr. Strachan about this.

"I must have been away that day," laughed Mr. Strachan.

In the course of the argument Judge Barton said: "I think the legislature tried to make it right and give the soldier a vote, but they didn't go far enough." At another point he said: "I don't think the legislature intended to empower these men (the trainees) to foist a liquor store here if the town doesn't want it."
